II. Park and Recreation Master Plan Update

Meghan Tiernan, Capital Planning & Development Director, Hayward Area Park and Recreation District presented introductory comments regarding the District's Master Plan update and introduced John Gibbs, consultant on the project.

John Gibbs presented a PowerPoint presentation on the Hayward Area Park and Recreation District Master Plan. The presentation included information on

The Hayward Area Park and Recreation District Master Plan will address park equity to meet community needs as well as meet recreation needs of a changing population. The plan will also improve maintenance and facilities, expand trail network and focus on increased safety and security.

The District is responsible for 95 parks with 1,720 acres of park land including 4 aquatic centers and 2 golf courses. There will be continued community outreach and engagement throughout the process of developing the plan.

Speaker

Linda Willis stated that she was concerned about limited access to school parks.

Castro Valley Questions/Discussion

Dave Sadoff asked about parks in the pipeline in the presentation; Measure F1, what is the funding that remains for parks? How many new parks are designated for Castro Valley?

Meghan Tiernan and HARD staff reported that the first bond sale issue was last year for $125 million and they anticipate spending 85% of that funding in the first 3 years.

Castro Valley parks in the pipeline include:
Castro Valley Arts Center
Castro Valley Community Center
Castro Valley Senior Center
Canyon Middle School
Creekside Middle School

Information is available on HARDs website regarding Measure F1 funding.

Dave Sadoff also asked if there was a promise by HARD to alleviate access issues.

HARD does plan to alleviate access issues.
