Summary/Action Minutes

I. Federal Legislative Update – CJ Lake

The House and Senate are in session this week but will enter a week-long recess next week.

COVID -19

Speaker Pelosi and Minority Leader Schumer are proposing measures to increase access to affordable testing and stronger protections for health workers. They have also called for making paid sick leave available to workers who have been affected by quarantine orders and school closings. There are six hearings this week to discuss options to lessen the burden of the coronavirus.

The Trump administration is expected to release a draft set of provisions to fight the economic fallout from coronavirus. This could include a tax package to assist impacted businesses, possibly a payroll tax cut.

Public Health Emergency Preparedness Funds Under the supplemental coronavirus appropriations bill passed last week, states were granted an addition of 90% of their annual Public Health Emergency Preparedness grant funding. California received just under $42 million in 2019 and will receive an additional $37.7 million for coronavirus-specific measures. In 2019, Los Angeles received a separate allocation of $20 million in funds, and will receive an allocation of $18 million for coronavirus prevention efforts (separate from the State allocation).

Paid Sick Leave

Rep. Rosa DeLauro and Sen. Patty Murray are pushing legislation to allow workers at businesses with at least 15 employees to earn up to seven days of paid sick leave each year. This works out to at least one hour of earned paid sick leave for every 30 hours worked. The bill will be the topic of a House Education and Labor subcommittee hearing on Wednesday. Rep. DeLauro first introduced this bill (H.R. 1784) in March of 2019, but support has increased since the outbreak of the coronavirus.

Immigration Legislation

Last week, House democratic leaders released a pair of House amendments that they would incorporate into H.R. 2486. The first amendment includes provisions from H.R. 2214, the “National Origin-Based Anti-discrimination for Non Immigrants Act,” or the NO BAN Act. This section would undo President Trump’s travel ban on people from several countries, particularly majority Muslim countries and prevent future bans. The second amendment would incorporate provisions from H.R. 5581, the “Access to Counsel Act.” It would also ensure that individuals who are detained while attempting to enter the US have access to legal representation.

War Powers Resolution

The House Rules Committee will meet today to discuss terms for a floor consideration of a bipartisan Senate-passed resolution to limit President Trump's military authority to strike Iran. After the resolution passed the Senate in February, the Trump White House released a statement in which they stated they would veto the resolution.

Senate Energy Package

The Senate plans to resume consideration of the energy package (S. 2657) developed by Senators Lisa Murkowski and Joe Manchin. The measure includes provisions from dozens of bills approved by the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. The Senate will hold a procedural vote this evening to limit debate on Murkowski's substitute amendment to the measure. If cloture is not invoked, and no further agreement is reached, the Senate would vote on the motion to invoke cloture on the underlying bill.

Several programs related to renewable energy, efficiency, cybersecurity, and supply chain security would be established, expanded, or modified. The measure would also reauthorize the Advanced Research Projects Agency-Energy (ARPA-E) through fiscal 2025, expand nuclear energy research programs, and initiate several projects related to carbon use and storage.
