4. My Future Center Update
   - The Council received an update on the center previously named "Success Center," which has been officially renamed "My Future Center." The center will be located at the Juvenile Justice Center and is intended to provide law enforcement with an alternative location for eligible youth who need intervention and services in lieu of booking into juvenile facilities.
   - An RFP for clinical and case management services has been released through Alameda County's procurement website under the Alameda County Youth Intervention and Support Services Center and closes August 10, 2026. The selected provider is expected to provide on-site clinical assessment and case management services from 8:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m. The provider will assess youth, develop service plans, and connect youth to appropriate services rather than provide direct treatment.

- Probation is developing the Center in partnership with ACOE, with Behavioral Health and Social Services also expressing interest in participating in the developing MOU. The space is intended to provide a welcoming, home-like environment with opportunities for on-site service delivery.
- The operational model remains under development. Initial plans call for voluntary law enforcement referrals, assessment of youth needs, connection to services, and coordination with law enforcement regarding successful program engagement. Future phases are expected to expand referral access to schools, community providers, and families.

Action/Next Steps:

- Continue development of the MOU and operational protocols with partner agencies.
- Complete procurement for clinical and case management services following the August 10 RFP deadline.
- Continue build-out of the My Future Center, with a target opening by the end of 2026.
- Explore opportunities for additional agency and community partnerships as the center develops.
