CHICK Therapy is contributing approximately $8,500 in organizational resources, staff time, event planning, volunteer coordination, outreach, and in-kind support. The requested $10,000 will fund direct event expenses that make it possible to provide an accessible, high-quality community outreach event for Alameda County residents impacted by justice involvement, incarceration, trauma, violence, and economic instability. - 13. What is the purpose of the event? Project RESTORE seeks to address underlying factors contributing to justice system involvement, family instability, poverty, trauma, and poor health outcomes by connecting justice-involved and formerly incarcerated individuals, women, men, youth, caregivers, and families with culturally responsive services and supportive community resources.

Many individuals and families affected by incarceration, domestic violence, childhood trauma, community violence, homelessness, poverty, or behavioral health challenges experience significant barriers to obtaining services.

By bringing multiple services and supports together in one accessible setting, Project RESTORE aims to reduce barriers, strengthen protective factors, support successful reentry, and promote long-term family and community stability.

14. Who is the event meant to serve? Project RESTORE is designed primarily to serve Alameda County's Realignment and reentry community and individuals and families directly impacted by incarceration and criminal legal system involvement. The event is expected to serve approximately 300 Alameda County residents, with intentional focus on justice-involved and formerly incarcerated individuals; individuals currently or formerly on probation or parole; women and mothers navigating reentry; families and children impacted by incarceration; men and fathers affected by incarceration and family separation; transitional-aged youth; girls ages 13–18 who may be experiencing risk factors associated with future justice involvement; survivors of domestic violence, human trafficking, and community violence; individuals experiencing trauma or housing instability; and low-income individuals and families.

Project RESTORE will also welcome caregivers and other Alameda County community members who would benefit from prevention, intervention, wellness, employment, family stabilization, and community-based support services.

15. How do you plan to make people aware of the event?

CHICK Therapy will implement a targeted, community-based outreach strategy designed to reach Alameda County residents, with particular emphasis on the local Realignment and reentry population, justice-involved and formerly incarcerated individuals, families impacted by incarceration, women, youth, survivors of violence and trauma, and underserved communities.

Outreach will include collaboration with Alameda County Probation, reentry and community-based organizations, schools and community colleges, family resource centers, behavioral health and healthcare providers, workforce development organizations, housing and homelessness service providers, domestic violence and human trafficking organizations, faith-based organizations, and other agencies serving justice-impacted individuals and families.

CHICK Therapy and participating partners, including the Brandon Armani Bailey Foundation and Men Cry 2, will also promote the event through their community networks and outreach channels.

Additional outreach will include social media campaigns, digital and printed flyers, community ambassadors, email campaigns, the CHICK Therapy website, community calendars, local media outreach, direct community engagement, and word-of-mouth referrals.

Outreach materials will clearly communicate that Project RESTORE is a free community event offering reentry resources, wellness and mental health education, employment and financial resources, family support, youth programming, workshops, resource navigation, food, and other supportive services.

Outreach efforts will prioritize reaching individuals who may not otherwise know about or have easy access to available community resources.

16. Please estimate the number of expected attendees: Approximately 300 attendees.

17. Are members of the CAB/CCPEC welcome to attend your event? ☒ Yes ☐ No

18. Will this event offer any of the following opportunities? *Please check all that apply:

- ☒ Prevention – Helps reduce the likelihood of individuals becoming involved with the criminal legal system (e.g., youth engagement, community support, education). If checked, please describe how your event will reduce involvement with the criminal legal system: Project RESTORE provides prevention-focused programming designed to reduce risk factors associated with future criminal legal system involvement, particularly among youth, families impacted by incarceration, survivors of violence, and individuals experiencing trauma or economic instability. Prevention activities will include youth leadership development, mentoring connections, healthy relationship education, domestic violence and human trafficking awareness, mental health education, parenting and family support, restorative practices, and connections to educational and community resources. By strengthening protective factors, increasing access to trusted adults and community support, and addressing trauma before it escalates into crisis, Project RESTORE seeks to help individuals and families build healthier and safer pathways.
- ☒ Intervention – Supports individuals currently or formerly involved with the criminal legal system (e.g., resource connection, case management, reentry services, peer support). If checked, please describe how your event will support individuals currently or formerly involved with the criminal legal system: Project RESTORE will directly support individuals who are currently or formerly involved with the criminal legal system by connecting them with reentry resources, behavioral health services, housing navigation, employment and workforce development opportunities, financial literacy education, legal resource referrals, family reunification support, mentoring, peer support, and community-based programs. Rather than requiring participants to navigate multiple disconnected systems independently, the event will bring providers together in one accessible setting where participants can learn about services, make direct connections, receive referrals, and identify next steps toward successful community reintegration and long-term stability.
- ☒ Innovation – Introduces new or creative strategies to support the reentry population and the communities they live in. If checked, please describe why you believe your event is a new or creative strategy to support the reentry population and the communities they live in: Project RESTORE uses an intergenerational, whole-family approach to reentry and prevention by recognizing that justice involvement affects not only the individual but also children, partners, caregivers, and future generations. Rather than addressing reentry, mental health, employment, family stability, violence prevention, and youth development as separate issues, Project RESTORE brings these supports together through one coordinated community event. The event intentionally combines the CCP's Generational Health and Generational Wealth priorities, allowing participants to address immediate needs while also building pathways toward long-term emotional wellness, family stability, employment, education, financial security, and community connection.

19. How does the event support the CCP's Generational Health and Generational Wealth goals?

Project RESTORE directly advances the Community Corrections Partnership's Generational Health priorities by increasing access to emotional wellness services, trauma recovery resources, culturally responsive behavioral health education, violence prevention programming, family support, healthy relationship education, housing resources, and community-based services.

The event also advances Generational Wealth by connecting participants to workforce development programs, employment opportunities, career coaching, financial literacy education, entrepreneurship resources, educational pathways, homeownership resources, legal assistance, and community support systems that improve long-term financial stability.

By investing in justice-impacted individuals, women, men, youth, caregivers, and families, Project RESTORE strengthens protective factors that reduce recidivism, improve child outcomes, increase community engagement, and promote healthier and more economically stable generations throughout Alameda County.

20. (Optional) Please identify any organizations, agencies, or community partners participating in the event and describe their role:

Brandon Armani Bailey Foundation will participate as a community partner, supporting outreach, community engagement, resource sharing, and connections to individuals and families who may benefit from Project RESTORE. The Foundation will help strengthen the event's ability to reach underserved and justice-impacted community members and connect participants with supportive resources. Men Cry 2 will participate as a community partner with a focus on men, fathers, and families impacted by trauma, incarceration, family separation, and community violence. Men Cry 2 will provide information and engagement centered on men's emotional wellness, healthy relationships, fatherhood, healing, family reunification, and reducing the stigma associated with men seeking emotional and community support. Together with CHICK Therapy, these organizations will contribute to Project RESTORE's whole-family and intergenerational approach by recognizing that successful reentry and community stability affect women, men, children, caregivers, and families. Additional Alameda County reentry, behavioral health, housing, workforce development, educational, healthcare, legal, and community-based partners are being invited to participate as resource providers, workshop facilitators, referral partners, and outreach collaborators.

21. What are the expected outcomes of the event? CHICK Therapy expects Project RESTORE to increase access to community resources, education, supportive services, and meaningful connections for Alameda County's Realignment/reentry community and justice-impacted families.

Expected outcomes include:

- Serve approximately 300 participants through the community resource fair, workshops, wellness activities, and educational programming.
- Engage multiple community-based organizations, agencies, and service providers representing reentry, behavioral health, housing, employment, education, financial wellness, family support, violence prevention, and other supportive services.
- Provide participants with access to workshops and educational opportunities addressing Generational Health and Generational Wealth, including emotional wellness, trauma recovery, healthy relationships, family stability, employment readiness, financial literacy, and successful reentry.
- Provide participants with opportunities to receive direct information, referrals, and connections to community-based services and ongoing support.
- Distribute wellness materials, educational resources, community resource information, and event-related participant materials.
- Increase participant awareness of available Alameda County resources and services.
- Increase connections between justice-impacted individuals and organizations that can support successful reentry, family stability, health, employment, education, and economic well-being.
- Create opportunities for participants to connect with ongoing mentoring, support groups, wellness programs, family services, employment resources, and other community-based programs.
- Overall, Project RESTORE is expected to strengthen community connections, reduce barriers to accessing supportive services, and advance the CCP's Generational Health and Generational Wealth priorities.

22. How will you know if your event is successful? Please tell us what information you will collect to determine success (for example: the number of people who attended the event, the number of bikes purchased and given away, or participant feedback/survey results). CHICK Therapy will evaluate the success and impact of Project RESTORE by collecting measurable information throughout the event. We will document the actual number of attendees, participating community organizations and resource providers, workshops and educational sessions offered, wellness kits and resource materials distributed, and participants receiving information, referrals, or connections to community services. Event staff and participating resource providers will use simple tracking forms or tally sheets, when appropriate, to document resource distribution, referrals, service connections, and participant engagement without requiring participants to disclose unnecessary personal information. We will also track the types of resources made available, including reentry, behavioral health, housing, employment, workforce development, education, financial literacy, family support, violence prevention, mentoring, and other Generational Health and Generational Wealth resources. Participants will be invited to complete a brief voluntary post-event survey regarding the usefulness of the event, resources or information they received, knowledge gained, satisfaction with the event, and whether they became aware of services or opportunities they did not previously know were available. CHICK Therapy will also collect feedback from participating community partners, facilitators, and volunteers and document the event through photographs and/or video when appropriate and with necessary permission. Following the event, CHICK Therapy will compile the actual results, including attendance, partner participation, workshops conducted, resources distributed, referrals and connections made, participant feedback, and other measurable information into the required CCPEC post-event impact report.
